A large, elegant handwritten signature in black ink, reading "Sergio Brugnoli". The script is fluid and cursive, with a prominent initial 'S' and a long, sweeping underline.

Sergio Brugnoli was the visionary founder of La Rustichella Truffles, and his legacy remains at the core of our company culture. In 1986, together with his wife Maria, he was able to realize his dream: creating the best truffle paté on the market using the highest quality ingredients.

Sergio's goal was not only to create an amazing product, but he also wanted to support and work in a partnership with his customers, and he was proud and happy to offer his unique products to them.

Sergio was an Italian who had a particular love for other cultures, and when he used to meet people from all over the world, he always showed great respect and appreciation for their culinary traditions. Even though he was proud of his own heritage, his true passion for different cultures led him to find new and unusual ways to use his truffle products.

He supported the chefs and customers in the introduction of truffles into their menus in their own way.

The Company

Our headquarters and production facility are located in the greater Rome area, with other branches based in London, Singapore, New York and Rio de Janeiro.

The production facility, recently fully renovated, uses green energy provided by solar panels. We follow the highest specifications, including BRC, IFS, and ISO 22000, and other product certifications such as VEGAN, BIO, USDA, HALAL, and KOSHER.

A development plan will drive the company's growth over the next five years in every aspect: financial, economic, production, and HR management, in order to offer the best possible level of customer service to our customers.

...Going Forward Together

our Signature

Sergio's signature is a sign of our quality and immediately identifies our unique products. During the food shows, look out for our flaming Parmigiano wheel, in which our black truffle risotto is being cooked and it is another iconic image that means La Rustichella is in action! Just follow the smell and you'll find our authentic taste!

Our approach to Excellence

We have been making products to the same high level of excellence for more than thirty years. That's easy to say... but how do we do it? We think about designing truffle products as if they were something alive, each with its own personality, unique features and particular character. This specific approach involves imagination, in depth knowledge of the product, the production technology, know-how, respect for the raw material, and our desired output to meet the needs of our customers. It is a team effort, where passion, experience, innovation and tradition come all together to achieve something you will fall in love with.

MustHave

These four iconic products are La Rustichella's best sellers and represent the core of this brand.

We work in several business segments, which is why we developed a range of products packed in larger tin cans or glass jars dedicated to food industry professionals operating in the Ho.Re.Ca. and industrial sectors.

the BENEFITS of Truffle

the BENEFITS of Truffle

Carbohydrates and proteins are generally the most abundant nutrients in truffles, followed by minerals, fibres, amino acids, fatty acids, and fats, that account for a significant portion of truffle composition.

Various truffle species exhibited a significant amount of unsaturated fatty acid (UFA), that has the potential to reduce cholesterol levels, prevent cardiovascular disease, and inhibit cancer progression.

Minerals such as potassium, magnesium, calcium, and phosphorus, abundant in truffle, are essential for numerous metabolic reactions, rigid bone formation, the transmission of nerve impulses, and regulation of water and salt balance.

Due to their composition, truffles have antioxidative, anti-inflammatory, anti-mutagenic, and anticancer properties.

Antitumor activity Several studies have demonstrated that methanol extracts have effects against breast adenocarcinoma and brain carcinoma. The hexane extract induces the reduction of mitochondrial membrane potential, hence the inhibition of cancer cell growth mechanism, angiogenesis, and stimulation of cancer cell apoptosis.

The antioxidant and anti-inflammatory activities of Truffles are efficient antioxidant due to their reducing abilities as hydrogen- or electron-donating agents. The antioxidant compounds also possess anti-inflammatory properties. Oxidative stress is often correlated to inflammatory disorders, particularly diabetes mellitus: truffle extract showed the same reduction level of glucose as the treatment with the standard antidiabetic drug.

Antimicrobial activity Ocular infections are highly linked with bacterial biofilms: truffle extracts showed growth inhibition of the etiological agent of trachoma (Chlamydia t.). Moreover, the same extracts were tested against Staphylococcus aureus and Pseudomonas aeruginosa, resulting that a potent proteinaceous antimicrobial agent against P.A. may be useful for treating ophthalmic infections.

Aphrodisiac activity Traditionally, truffles have been used as an effective sexual enhancer due to their constituent of androstanol as a steroidal pheromone.
